

Dear Anna,

Now that I have been in New York and away from you for the first time, I realize that I have always loved you. We used to have to say, "I'd cry very much if you died," but now I know that it isn't so complicated.

I love you.